

Community Colleges of Spokane

COVID-19 Syllabus Statement

Community Colleges of Spokane is committed to the health and safety of students, faculty and staff in maintaining a safe environment that complies with local, state and federal health and safety regulations. We have worked hard to develop health and safety protocols to ensure a successful and safe learning environment for all of us, but we will only get through this together if every member of the CCS community does their part. Some protocols specific to COVID-19 will include truthfully answering a daily attestation that you have no COVID-19 symptoms and will wear a mask on campus. Your instructor will communicate those rules and practices to you, and it is your responsibility to follow them. We understand much of this is new for you (and please know it's new for your faculty as well), so we encourage you to ask questions when you have them. Refusal to follow the health and safety guidelines shared by your instructor, or engaging in any conduct that places your fellow students, CCS employees or members of the public at risk, can result in immediate class suspension and referral to the Student Conduct Officer for disciplinary proceedings as outlined in the Standards of Conduct for Students.

If you have COVID-19 safety concerns due to any personal health condition(s), please contact Disability Support Services to discuss accommodations and other options available to you.
